Two Local Financial Services Companies Merge

May 6, 2011 - Richmond, Virginia - Stewart Custis, Owner of Old Dominion Accounting, has recently merged his accounting and tax practice with Steiner Business Solutions in Mechanicsville, VA. Mr. Custis, a graduate of the University of Richmond, operated his company independently for over 3 years. Mr. Custis stated that a shared business philosophy, interest in contributing to a unique business model, and the opportunity to expand his service offerings, led to the merger.

“Dan and I found that we share the same philosophies and mentality regarding client service - their best interest is the only interest, be it accounting, tax or financial planning. Combined, we believe we offer our clients an extensive value-added skill set and customer experience.” said Mr. Custis.

Formed in 2006 by Dan Steiner, Steiner Business Solutions has successfully served the entrepreneurial and small business community in Richmond, VA by offering affordable accounting, tax, consulting, and financial planning services. Associates work closely with clients – providing them financial information and strategic guidance to help improve profitability and set the direction for their businesses.
